Wehr Nature Center Presents:

Bee Kind to Bees!

What animal is as small as a pea, can travel 12 miles daily, and make one of the sweetest treats on the planet? The Honey Bee! Who is responsible for pollinating many of our food crops? Native bees! This summer children will join our team to learn what all the buzz is about bees. Children will follow the scent floating on air to find a bee gold mine. Through costumes, role playing, and other interactive activities, participants will experience a day in the life of a honey bee at in its hive. We will also explore how other types of bees accomplish pollination. As in any family, communication is vital to getting all the chores done and keeping everyone in the family happy and healthy. Children will practice gathering pollen, caring for young, producing honey, guarding their fellow family members, and communicating through scent and dance. We will also learn a lesson on how to be kind to bees.
