

Become a Nature Detective this summer and take a step out-of-doors with Wehr Nature Center to discover the tales told by our wild animal neighbors. Signs and clues left by these creatures give us insight into what these creatures are up to when we are not around. Tracks, trails, scat, homes, sounds, and feeding signs are just some of the clues that help us unravel these wildlife mysteries.

This interactive program will be able to be done in person or pivoted to a virtual version depending on COVID-19 restrictions. Highlights include an interactive wildlife mystery story, animal tracking guide, and kit for each participant to make a plaster cast of an animal footprint they find in their neighborhood.
