

Wehr
Nature
Center
Presents:

One Butterfly... Three Countries:

A Journey that Starts in Your Own Backyard!

"I don't know much, but I know what I know. I gotta go. I gotta go to Mexico!" The little creepy crawly caterpillar in Sam Swope's book, Gotta Go! Gotta Go! introduces children to the magnificent life cycle and migration of the endangered monarch butterfly. From egg to adult, children follow the journey of the monarch from its summer home in Canada and the United States to its wintering grounds in California and Mexico and back again. Following an interactive telling of this story, participants will take part in hands-on discovery by visiting live monarchs, learning about butterfly culture in these three countries, playing games that transform them into monarchs, and learning how to support monarchs right in their own neighborhoods.

Program Details

Fee: $150 per session
(plus mileage outside of Milwaukee County)
60 children maximum per session
Recommended for children ages 5-10

Request a Summer Library Program

Click on this link to submit your request. Our scheduler will contact you within 5 business days to complete your registration.
Questions? Call (414) 425-8550
www.friendsofwehr.org